The perfect strain for novice and moderate consumers looking for added medicinal benefits. With a 1:1 balance of around 7% THC and 7% CBD, her subtle, yet uplifting effects make for an amazing wake n bake strain or those who prefer less psychoactive sensations. Just like her sister strain Green Crack, she produces large yields of sweet mango-flavored bud, deserving of the highest shelf in any dispensary. Medical patients may find this strain useful for therapeutic purposes such as treating aches and pains, muscle spasms, cramps, relieving feelings of nausea and sickness, reducing anxiety, and insomnia.

Bud description

CBD 1:1 grows buds that are long, dense with a head-turning shiny appearance. Her bright orange pistils gently wrap themselves around the fat, frosted calyxes, giving her maximum bag appeal and a chunky, compact appearance. The buds are large-sized and hard to squeeze, a gram of this flower goes a long way.

Smoke report

Thanks to the equal ratio of THC and CBD, this hybrid has a very gentle, calming, and pleasant effect. After lighting a joint, clarity and focus will increase followed by a very mild physical buzz courtesy of the 7% CBD. We strongly recommend this medical rich autoflowering strain to anyone who is new to smoking Cannabis, who want to enjoy ripe Mango flavors with no overwhelming effects.

Plant Appearance

Thanks to her uniform appearance, CBD Crack Auto performs incredibly well when grown closely together, exhibiting an array of hues with a heavy onset of resin. Capable of producing yields of 450-550gr/m² and has a high calyx to leaf ratio. This girl will finish around 100cm in height, meaning she is not the tallest of plants. She grows to a medium height and bushy, with short side branching, growing one main cola.

Grow Tips

Lightly pruning this strain as she enters the 4th week of flowering will increase the size of top buds and improve the airflow around the plants. Super resinous, so medical patients will benefit from using the sugar-rich plant material to make extracts with. Adding bamboo canes around the sides of the pots to support the side branches early on to help the plants grow more productively. She can take a heavy feed thanks to her complex blend of genetics and will reward you with thick, greasy buds. Be sure to cure to increase flavor as well as CBD levels, giving them more of a physical effect if desired.

Flavor

A blend of peppery, floral with freshly sliced ripe mango that becomes more emphasized, when exhaling this fruity hybrid. Her flowers taste amazing and for a real terpene treat, smoke some dabs made from this lady to really enjoy the flavors and medicinal properties.
